Millennials Support Ithaca Diaries Kickstarter Campaign

Hi! I'm thrilled with the outpouring of support for Ithaca Diaries— including that of current students and recent grads.

Alex Tomasi, a 2014 Boston University communications grad (and race car driver!) has offered a beautiful, whimsical poster as a new reward—(shown below the cover photo).

You can meet Alex and other 20-something supporters- Erin Euler, Eric Morris (Cornell 2012), Grant Randall and Ben Whiting via their brief You Tube videos....and I hope at the launch party in January.

Any and all contributions welcome—including $1 and $5. Every little bit helps—and also raises projects in the kickstarter rankings and attracts more views. It would also be great if you'd' share this email and the kickstarter link on social media.

Here's the kickstarter link:

https://www.kickstarter.com/projects/1639099206/ithaca-diaries _coming-of-age-in-the-1960s.

It does look like we'll reach the goal soon…which means that Ithaca Diaries will be available for holiday gift giving. Additional $$ will allow a Kirkus review to let bookstores and libraries know it's available—and still more will go toward an interactive Web site.

Many many thanks, Anita M. Harris

Anita M. Harris is a writer and communications consultant in Cambridge, MA. New Cambridge Observer is a publication of the Harris Communications Group, an award-winning public relations and marketing firm, based in Kendall Square, Cambridge.