

J. Montgomery to headline blues benefit for film about 1960s WBCN-radio

WBCN was the hub of enormous musical, social and political activity in Boston much of which had a national impact," says James Montgomery, ho will be headlining a benefit for a forthcoming film about the radio station. "The blues were at the heart of it, and we'll celebrate the roots of blues in this special evening of music."