

Non-invasive test predicts risk of sudden cardiac arrest

A meta-analysis and four additional studies published in the March 2009 Heart Rhythm journal show clearly that Cambridge Heart's non-invasive MTWA test can accurately predicts the risk of sudden cardiac arrest—the leading killer in the US.