

Health Reform: The Right Thing To do

While current health reform legislation needs tweaking and will be subject to change, I firmly support it. It's the right thing to do.