

Art of Decay: Where Do We Go From Here?

In pondering the curators' decisions to highlight these artists, I can't help but conclude that they're making a statement about the current state of civilization, politics, and art. But I ask, where do we go from here?