

Can Digital Innovation Transform Health Care? Part III: Apps, Devices & Roadblocks

In her final report in a three-part series, writer Anita Harris reports on digital innovations aimed at improving behavioral and population health through new models for insurance and state systems. She also discusses roadblocks to change.