

Queen makes surprise “appearance” at UK Consulate health care briefing

The Queen listens but doesn't say much, joked Ann Avidon, Vice Consul, in setting up a cardboard photo at a recent health care event at the UK Consulate in Cambridge.

Professional Women Opt Out: A Complicated Conundrum

Like Sheryl Sandberg, the Facebook COO and author of Lean-In, Cambridge author Anita Harris is troubled by the conundrum created when talented women opt out of careers and lose the opportunity to advance to positions that might allow them to influence workplace culture. But, Harris suggests, perhaps it is not the privileged who are likeliest to push for change or equality for others.

Harvard Square Stay-cation

Rained out of Cape plans, Cambridge writer/photographer Anita Harris is spending Memorial Day Weekend at home, near Harvard Square.

Pedicab Service Launched in Harvard Square

New Cambridge pedicab service looks like fun; pay what you like.

High score to Cambridge Mayfair

Cambridge writer Anita Harris and her friend E had a great time at the 2013 Mayfair. Both came away richer for the experience...literally.